I sell items at our local growers market, and I consider myself to be an advanced intermediate crocheter. I either slip stitch or single crochet them together OR I make them in strips – much less joining to do! She told me that she sat directly in front of a righty and made the same movements like watching yourself in the mirror.

This will be fun to do knowing I have other people working on it. I have been meaning to make an afghan to keep in the living room of my new apartment and this will do the trick nicely! We all learned Granny Squares back then and have taught myself everything. And I recently finished some premie hats to donate to Womankind. I would like to try some new patterns.
