The person's theological expressions are as numerous as his operations. It may seem paradoxical that God, who is light and love, produces darkness and night in the person, but that is the case until the receiver is conditioned and well prepared to notice and enjoy God's mysterious communication. HeknowsthatitisacrisisofspiritualgrowthanddevelopmentbecauseGodhas The individual, to welcome God's self giving through contemplation, must detach himself from his active connatural ways of knowing and loving because there is no proportion between human, clear ideas and representations and the divine nature. That he may recognize it, it always comes to pass with a certain peace and calm and inward absorption. Since the moment of conversion the person has been able to know where he stands in regard to God, to human relations and the practice of Christian virtues. Toseewhatyourfriendsthoughtofthisbook,pleasesignup.Until now meditation has been the expression of his religious practice and commitment to God.
