Delphine is trapped in a loveless marriage to Baron de Nucingen, a money-savvy banker. The first thread of the story is the tale of the young provincial Rastignac, who has come to make his mark on Paris.

Paris in the post-Napoleonic era was split into distinct neighborhoods. The In his thirst for advancement, Rastignac has been compared to Faust with Vautrin as Mephistopheles. You will be nothing here, you see, unless a woman interests herself in you; and she must be young and wealthy, and a woman of the world. I think I agree.
