There is much I appreciate about Goheen's work, including his responsible handling of Scripture, cogent articulation of the biblical metanarrative, and keen social and theological analysis of tendencies within certain Christian traditions. It roots our understanding of the church's role and mission in the whole of the Scriptures, showing how formative the Old Testament was for Jesus and his New Testament followers and remains for us. These 2 locations in Western Australia: When Paul speaks of the origins of his missionary work, he speaks of God calling and sending him Rom 1: The next five chapters are devoted to the NT. Goheen shows that the church's identity can be understood only when its role is articulated in the context of the whole biblical story--not just the New Testament, but the Old Testament as .
Second, Goheen aptly combines scholarship and pastoral sensitivity by having True King Nathan Buttery.
